FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

A Day of Rest-Wall Street at Peace.

FRIDAY, May 30-6 P. M.

Wall street to-day is enjoying a rest-one of those pauses in active life but for which brains would burn out and men would feel the curse of overwork. The majority of brokers and bankers have devoted the day to recreation, and between yachting, fishing and country fields, bulls and ears alike are doubtless gladly availing themselves of a parenthesis in the somewhat monotonous sentences of their ordinary experience. The nly information that comes to the street is from England, and this tells us to-day the price of Erie as opening at the low price of $1, but showing an dvance subsequently to 31 % a 31%, with active and wide ductuations. The Bank of England has lost by withdrawai £11,000, and money is easy. LONDON QUOTATIONS are as follows:-Consols, for money, 93% a 93%; for the account, 92% a 92%. Paris despatches quote rentes at 69.70. It is not a matter of wonthat the Bank of England can afford to reduce its rate of discount, or that money there shows much of the same anxiety to be profitably employed that is observed here. Some classes of American securities are coming back "by the ream" to be sold on this market, and the coin we send abroad in such large amounts is the practical evidence of the want of faith—the discredit that has followed the defaults recently reported in Holland and elsewhere. This ney on its return to Europe either remains idle in the banks or finds investment in the thousand securities of which London is the attractive point.

STRENGTH IN UNITED STATES BONDS It is because the average investor on both sides of the Atlantic has caught the injection of distrust and prefers that which is fortified by national faith to that which is only hedged around by the promises to pay of rotten corporations. Nor is it within the power of human pen to indicate when or where this commercial weakness will receive a check The outlook is by no means encouraging. We are paying the penalty of having builded and lived too fast. The day of reckoning finds us unable to foot the bill. Events have compelled economy, and the process of retrenchment and contraction has changed the expectations and the prospects which but a few years ago made every man feel that there was to be no end to THE ARTIFICIAL PROSPERITY of that period. The bubble has been pricked. Capital has become frightened. Men no longer dare to confide in speculative values. The great operators of the past have either disappeared from the field or are awaiting the low water mark of stocks and bonds before they again trust judgment and fortune to the maelstrom. The market we tness from day to day is simply the result of manipulation, not of natural causes. It is not a dition that invites any one but the gambler. ordition that invites any succertain as the ordinary speculation in which the Wall street operator MERCHANDISE IMPORTS.

The total imports of general merchandise at this port, for the week ending May 29, 1874, were $7,124,146.

ALLEGED PATAL ASSAULT.

Coroner Croker yesterday held an inquest in the case of Robert Pratt, five and a half years of age, late of No. 309 East Ninth street, who, it is alleged, died from the effects of injuries received on Tuesday last, at the corner of Ninth street and First avenue, by being struck and knocked down by Tomaso Tassno, an Italian ice cream vender, who travelled through the street with a three-wheeled cart. Some boys had collected around the Italian, to whom they used insulting and abusive language, whereupon, as is charged, Tassno made the assault on deceased. The only evidence against the accused touching the assault was that of two small cused touching the assault was that of two small boys, and full credence was not attached to it, owing to their tender years.

William F. Pratt, the little brother of deceased, testified that he saw the Italian strike the deceased, who fell on the pavement, after which the Italian kicked him; deceased got up and staggered away toward home.

John J. Hanbury, also a lad, who stood on the opposite side of the street, deposed that he saw the Italian strike the deceased and atter he was down on the sidewalk the Italian kicked him.

Deceased was a delicate child, and Deputy Coroner MacWhinnie, who made an autopsy, found that death resulted from meningitis, but not a single scratch or bruise was to be found on the head or body of deceased.

The Jury found that death resulted from meningitis, hastened by a blow supposed to have been given by the prisoner on the 26th day of May, 1874.

Tassno was sent to the Tombs, but will be released on a reasonable amount of ball.

THE THIRD TERM.

[From the St. Paul Pioneer.] Perhaps the gravest of the dangers to which the country is subjected is the hunger and thirst of Presidents to secure a second term. It was this the inauguration of the most stupendous political machine ever invented—the memorable provost marshal system; it was this which pursued Andrew Johnson like a phantom of unrest, and it was this which possessed the thoughts of General Grant from the first moment of his accession to his first from the first moment of his accession to his first term.

There is no man possessed of weak human nature who can resist the temptation to employ every means within the grasp of his powerful place to protract his Presidential occupancy. No form of corruption, no use to which he can put his mighty army of appointees will be hesitate to employ. Probably there is no such mighty stimulus to corruption in the country as this thirst of Presidents to perpetuate their reign. We believe, and we have long advocated, that the President should be made eligible to but a single term, that term to be protracted to six years. Certainly under no possible circumstances ought he to be at liberty to scheme for the prolongation of power beyond two terms.

WHERE SHALL WE GO?

[From the Relena Independent.] "Where shall we go for the summer ?" The NEW York Herald asks this question. We answer, Come to Montana. Here the pleasure seeker can Come to Montana. Here the pleasure seeker can find beautiful lakes, cascades, immense waterfails, boiling springs, delightful scenery and the finest fishing on the Continent. The air is bracing and cool, the days never very warm and the nights never oppressive. There is not a spot on earth that offers so many inducements to those who are seeking health or recreation as does Montana, and we therefore cheerfully extend an invitation to the world—barring China—to come and see us.

SEASIDE AND COUNTRY.

Long Branch has donned its green foliage "Canaan, my happy home, oh, how I tong for thee!" is what visitors to the Twin Lakes, Connecticut, sing when they look over into little Canaan

Visitors to the Long Branch cottage by the sea will sigh, "Oh, Neille, we have missed you!"

A nervous maidea lady objects to the Catskill Mountain because the very name suggests kilns for the cremation of deceased Tabbies, and she does not wish to endanger her favorite Maitese's prospects of entering the Vaihalla of feline rest rith a whole skin.

Some of the cottagers have begun to arrive at wampscott and Nahant, and a large number will be comfortably installed for the summer before the Quite a respectable number are already at Sara-

Senor Bareda's brick palace at Newport has just been sold for $175,000 to W. T. Blodgett, who will Commodore Asa Hull and wife, San Prancisco; J. K. Pumpelly and wife, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Richard Lawrence, J. B. Lawrence and Charles T. Whittemore, all of New York, have already arrived at the American Hotel, Saratoga.

Gardiner Sherman, the New York banker, is to oulld a villa near Ogden Cove, Me.

It is whispered that Lady Ashburton, of London, who now owns the larger share of the Bingham estate, will visit this country in the summer, and, of course, Bar Harbor, Mount Deseret, Me. The Round Hill House, Northampton, Mass., will not suffer from the recent Mill River flood, as the disaster occurred several miles above.

Among the New York visitors "booked" for the Riverside House, Carmansville, are Mrs. A. A. Serymser and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mangan, Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Bisbee, Mr. and Mrs. Brighan and daughter and H. S. Wetmore.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Crittenden and family will spend the summer at Sharon Springs.

The boat accommodations of Lake Mahopac this year will be very good, as all the hotels have overauled their fleets. Mr. Gurney, of the Revere House, Boston, is to build a cottage for himself and family at Old Orchard Beach, near the Old Orchard House.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., is a candidate for public patronage, but as we have seen no announcement fa hotel there this season it is sale to say few New Yorkers will care about "roosting" on Buz zard's Bay.
